1. Researchers suggest that in second/foreign language learning, anxiety can be both facilitating and debilitating. Write one paragraph to explain the reason why you agree or disagree with this claim. (30%)

2. Discuss what English for Specific Purpose (ESP) is and its relation to the English language instruction for university students in Taiwan. If you were an English teacher at the university, what teaching materials and classroom teaching techniques would you adopt in order to implement ESP in the real language teaching and learning context? Support your answers with reference to relevant literature or research and/or logical argumentation. (30%)

3. Compare and contrast the Audio-Lingual Method and the Natural Approach. Then, discuss what concepts in each approach you would apply to your teaching of English at the primary school for the purpose of facilitating language learning and teaching. (40%)